

Pattern for Daily Mandates

What is the Father doing on a daily basis -- what is His mandate for me for the day?

Engage relationship:

First thing, I open the first love gate. I welcome the presence of God into my spirit. Therefore I surrender the seat of government for my life to Him so He will be enthroned on my life and then my spirit, soul and body gates are already active and open. I just consciously allow the river of life to flowing through them.

I am looking to create the atmosphere around me by consciously being aware of the rivers of living water that flow through my spirit, soul, and body because I have opened my spirit, soul, and body gates. I don't have to go through the cleansing gateways again. Occasionally I do sort of a checkup just to make sure nothing is hindering the flow. But not every time unless I have a lack of peace then I ask the Lord which gateway needs cleansing.

The key is my will, my choice to worship Him -- worship means to bow down and give obeisance to Him which says, "You are my Lord and King, I just come to serve you."

So, at the gateway of worship I tend to take on the yoke of Jesus yoking myself to Him and I enter into that place of rest because I come to Him to learn from Him during the day that He will guide and direct me. (So that's the basic starting point.) Then I would look to Him for that guidance of, "Where do we go from here, now do I need to go into my garden or into the realms of heaven to get grace, mercy, tree of Life, River of Life?"

Generally, I drink of that river every day to get that source flowing. Sometimes God just wants me to hang out with Him. I don't want to rush off into finding the mandates for the day before I establish the relationship. I really want to be clear, do we just want to hang out in the garden and just chat? Sometimes I just want to ask Him some things, more personal things rather than rulership things. We would go and hang out, fellowship and talk and get revelation. And often around there, that would be as I feel directed, as the desires of my spirit and heart lead me towards. But if there's no sense of that, then I just engage to ask Him what the mandate is for the day. I would step into the realm of Heaven and go to the ark.

My process of that, I've developed a pathway through being a living sacrifice which comes to the same point of Romans 12:1-2 -- my acceptable worship or service (same word) for today is the will of God. So I want to go find what is the will of God for me today. I present myself to the High Priest which is Jesus and I engage around the ark.

When I was developing that pathway I would spend time there opening my heart, surrendering as a living sacrifice, recognizing I am dead to sin, alive to Him, and I have been crucified with Christ, going through the veils of the Way, the Truth and the Life. I've developed that pathway, so now I can step into the ark on the understanding that if there's anything God wants to do in my life, that's a hindrance to me serving Him today, then He has total permission to bring anything up, to show me anything -- whether it is an issue of seed line, blood line, behavioral issues, thoughts or intentions of the heart, trading issues, anything, along those three areas of dividing soul and spirit, thoughts and intentions of the heart; of bone and marrow, He has total permission because I have opened my heart to Him. I've said, "Search me and show me."

My key place of what is my mandate to frame each day, is the ark. I would come around the presence of the ark. I would open my heart to receive the mandate that He has for me, so symbolically, I am wanting to resonate with His will. I want to hear or see or feel what He wants for me today. Sometimes it comes directly -- I sense something really specific that He wants me to do today. Sometimes it is just surrendering my day as it is, in the things I am doing and the people I am seeing, or the hangouts I have for the day and I receive those mandates for those things that are already in my diary. And I want specific direction around that.

For each hangout I want a mandate from God, to create an open heaven to God and use the keys of the Kingdom. To unlock the realms of heaven for people to engage, to be able to release revelation to them so that would be in a sense, a mandate for that. I have received that in my heart and He writes it on the tablets of my heart or draws the desires of my heart towards His will, not mine.

Symbolically, again Jesus said, "My food is to do the will of Him who sent me." So I am looking to receive the resource of His provision for me to do His will today. That comes as manna from heaven I receive as the resources and provision of God, that I would have the anointing, the wisdom, the insight, understanding, revelation, whatever spiritual keys I need to be able to outwork His will and purpose for me. So once I have received that and my heart has been drawn towards that, I am engaging with the name of God and the four faces of God and I want to step into the presence of God to see things from His perspective. So that's the sort of process I go through.

Depending on what mandate I had received would determine what I do next. If I receive something new, and God is leading me to do something I've not done before or I am unsure what it is God's calling me to do in a particular area, then I would go to another court. Maybe the Court of War to get the strategy, or if it was something new to get it authorized I would go to the Court of Chancellors. Often then I would go to the Court of Angels to get angelic assignments according to the things I am doing. Then I would go into my mountain and administrate that from my mountain, so I would begin to frame my day from the position of authority that I have received from that mandate.

I can apply any scrolls or authorizations that I have received. I can begin to speak blessing and favor, speak protection around the day, release angels to guard situations, release angels to open up the everlasting doors over my life so life will flow through them. That would open up the heavens over the situations that I am going to engage in. I can call those things that be not as though they were. If I need to create things that are not already in existence, which can be favor, I would send angels ahead to prepare the way for me today. So my course and pathway for the day is lit by the revelation I am flowing and following. I am being yoked to Jesus, now I am going to follow and be directed by Him along the way. Depends what it is and what the mandate's for in a specific day, depending on what I would do, but often I decree blessings and favor. I decree prophetically from that mountain into the atmosphere of the earth and into the realm of earth to open up whatever needs to happen for me that day.

So that is what I do on a daily basis.

Sometimes I engage Wisdom, some times I go into another room in the mountain of God, the treasury room, the mantle room, other rooms. Often that takes place when there is something new. . .
